What if you could have everything you wanted with a single thought? How far would you go? College English professor Victor Hayes has an ordinary life that abruptly goes haywire one day when his fantasies begin taking life. A girl in his class, who's shown no interest in him whatsoever, suddenly becomes obsessed with him. Impossible things begin happening: his cat starts talking to him, his class erupts into an orgy one afternoon, yet no one else notices anything unusual. Worse, the fantasies start and stop without warning, afterwards reverting to his normal life as if nothing has happened. For Victor has been caught up in something much older than him, something that will give him his every desire--but at a price.
